

If your child has an IEP, 504, or other support plan, please note the following.

MakerSphere is committed to creating an inclusive environment and welcomes participants of all abilities. The MakerSphere Afterschool Program is not a part of the public school system and therefore, not required to implement Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. However, we do comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act and provide reasonable accommodations to support participation whenever possible.

We encourage parents to share information about your child's needs so we can better understand how to support them within our program setting. However, we cannot provide one-on-one staffing, specialized therapeutic services, or supports that would fundamentally alter the nature of the program. Student conduct must not prevent an enjoyable classroom experience for other students, affect the well-being and safety of other students, or create any safety concerns with the types of tools used in our art, woodworking and cooking classrooms.

Before registering for a program, we urge parents to contact MakerSphere to determine whether the program is a good fit for your child.
